Noted Attorney Speaks
To Covina Men's Club

Declaring that such procedure as the initiative, referendum and recall is in contradistinction to the spirit of the American constitution, and stating his belief that the "ear to the ground" policy in American government can be carried too far to the detriment of government, Attorney Harry F. Atwood, one of the best-known public speakers of the United States, held a big audience intensely interested at the monthly meeting of the Covina Men's Club on Tuesday night.

That modern legislation is getting away from the constitutional form, and that the people are not always well enough informed to pass judgment upon significant issues was the belief of the speaker, who called attention to the fact that this government provided for the people's presence in the halls of congress through representatives.

In support of his opposition to the referendum, the speaker alluded to a baseball game, and asked if it would be wise for an umpire to refer his decisions to the bleachers each time there was a close play. The speaker dwelt upon the wisdom that had been shown by Washington and the pioneers in American government, quoting Lincoln's praise of the Father of His Country, when the Great Emancipator said that words were inadequate to describe the tremendous value to the country of this first president. At this time we can apply Lincoln's words concerning Washington to Lincoln himself, the speaker declared.

Attorney Atwood was introduced by Gordon C. Douglas, commander of Upper San Gabriel Valley post of the American Legion. Inasmuch as the speaker was to address the audience on Washington and the constitution, Commander Douglas referred to the fact that Washington was the commander of the first ex-service man's organization in the United States, the Society of the Cincinnati. He alluded to the splendid work accomplished by the Grand Army of the Republic in maintaining patriotic morale in the country, and read the preamble of the constitution of the American Legion, the organization which expects to perpetuate the work of these earlier patriotic bodies.

H. L. Messick, well known "tree doctor" of Pomona, gave a talk on the condition of the citrus trees at the present time, advising that there should be a system of cultivation around the base of the trees which would tend to increase the circulation and revive the tree. He was asked many questions. Rev. C. D. Eddy of the Baptist church made a plea for assistance for the inhabitants of Sonoratown, near Irwindale, stating that unemployment was causing a great deal of suffering. He was supported in this statement by Edwin Jobe and others, and a resolution, signed by Edwin Jobe and C. E. Crawford, representing a club committee was adopted, which urged that the chambers of commerce of the various communities in the valley lend every aid possible in securing work for these people. It was stated that direct charity was not so necessary as an opportunity to work. Dr. Messick suggested that these workmen be employed in cultivating around the trunks and roots of the trees at this time.

The general meeting was presided over by President Harry Gordon, and an excellent supper, provided by the ladies of the Monday Afternoon club, was enjoyed.

In connection with the situation in Sonoratown, William Webster, manager of the Irwindale Citrus Association, has issued a statement that he will act as a distributing agent in getting supplies to these people, and also as an employment agent. He says that the need is real and immediate in many families, where at the present time there is no food whatever in the houses.

Pneumonia Claims Two
In Nevell Family

Following the death of Mrs. James Nevell of Los Angeles, sister of Mrs. C. W. Potter of Covina, which occurred last week, comes another sad announcement that her daughter, Mrs. Robert Burns, died at her home in Los Angeles yesterday. Both were victims of pneumonia.

Both Mrs. Nevell and her daughter were very well known in the Covina valley, where they had visited many times with the Potters and attended many social functions here.

The funeral for Mrs. Nevell was held last Saturday in Los Angeles and was attended by a number of Covina relatives and friends.

Friends Pay Tribute to Mrs. J. H. Matthews

Assembling in Oakdale cemetery last Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, a large number of friends of many years paid tribute to the memory of Mrs. J. H. Matthews, widow of the former secretary of the Columbia Land & Water Company, and mother of J. L. Matthews of the Argus, Miss Lucy Matthews, and William H. Matthews, the latter of Long Beach.

Mrs. Matthews, who was 73 years old, died last week Thursday, after a lingering illness, as reported in last week's issue of the Argus. Her life here, in connection with the Baptist church, caused a large number to assemble at the graveside, and there was a profusion of floral tributes, among them being pieces from the Baptist church, the Sunday-school, the Monday Afternoon club, and the Columbia Land & Water Company. The services were conducted by Rev. C. D. Eddy, and the well-loved song, "Rock of Ages," was sung by Mrs. Charlotte White.

The body was laid to rest beside that of her husband. The pall-bearers were Dr. David S. Watson, Frank Miller, Ernest Mitchell, S. Douglas, and Henry Damerel.

Knights of Pythias in Anniversary Supper

Celebrating the fifty-eighth anniversary of the founding of the Knights of Pythias lodge in America, Covina lodge, Knights of Pythias, entertained nearly 200 knights and ladies at a sumptuous supper Wednesday night, and spent the evening enjoyably with music and dancing.

A feature was the birthday cake with fifty-eight candles, which graced the center of the board, the handiwork of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Longworth, members of the order. Musical numbers were furnished by Cecil and Thelma Burke, Miss Lucinda Beatty, Vancil Marshall, Mrs. Olson, and others from Los Angeles. Some very illuminating speeches on Pythianism were delivered by George Galloway and George H. Wilson of Los Angeles, both prominent officials in the order.

The affair was arranged by Chancellor Commander Louis Hodges and a special committee consisting of W. H. Daniels, William Schaefer, and J. M. Pearson.

Sonoratown People
In Need of Food

Because of the discovery that eight families in the Sonoratown settlement were entirely without food, and many other families in a desperate condition, a committee headed by C. E. Crawford sent seventy-five dollars' worth of provisions to the families yesterday.

Upper San Gabriel Valley post of the American Legion, with a committee headed by Gordon C. Douglas, Irven G. Reynolds and others, assumed the responsibility of accepting funds for the relief of the destitute. All persons in the valley wishing to aid in caring for these unfortunates will make checks to the American Legion. Donations of food and other necessities will be accepted.

Mrs. C. W. Cogan was working on the cases yesterday for the Welfare Commission. A nurse to take care of the many cases of influenza was provided yesterday by the Catholic church of Azusa.

Mr. Crawford said yesterday that later on the Mexicans would be able to reimburse the fund distributed if work was provided.

Congleton Improving
From Paralytic Stroke

Allen Congleton, well known in Covina where he has been employed for some time, is reported as improving somewhat from an attack of paralysis which came upon him two weeks ago. He was taken to the county hospital at the time.

Congleton is an overseas man, going from Covina into the Canadian service with Harry Weathers, another Covina man. His sickness came upon him suddenly one night when he was playing pool, and he was removed to his room and afterwards to the hospital.

Earl Harnish, who for the past two weeks has been ill with influenza, is expected to be able to return to school in Los Angeles soon.

Last Storm Results in Quite Heavy Run-Off

For the storm ..... 90
For February ..... 4.64
For Season ..... 18.76

The above figures are taken from the rain gauge kept by Captain N. D. Mussey of West Badillo street, and show a smaller amount of rain than is recorded in some other gauges on the east and north of Covina.

Nearly twice as much rain is recorded to date as was recorded last year. The last storm, which came on Sunday and Monday, resulted in a heavy run-off throughout the valley, as the ground is thoroughly soaked from other recent rains. Many washes ran nearly to capacity, and it was considered fortunate that the rain did not continue under the circumstances.

The valley is in excellent condition from the standpoint of moisture, and a plentiful underground supply is assured for the wells.

Local Clubwomen to Hear Music Artists

A music treat quite out of the ordinary is the program of the Monday Afternoon Club at the regular meeting Monday, Feb. 27, at 2:30.

Mrs. Jewell N. Johnstone and two daughters, Misses Cleo and Irma Leah, of Los Angeles, will appear before the club on this occasion.

Mrs. Johnstone, who has studied with P. Ludwig Conde, is an accomplished violinist. Miss Irma Leah, a pupil of Philo Becker, is proficient on the violin, and Miss Cleo, pianist, now taking instruction from Mr. Philo Becker, is also serving in the capacity of accompanist for the orchestra of the University of Southern California.

The trio contemplates a concert tour of this country in the near future.

City Trustees Begin
Park Improvement

The Covina city trustees have ordered commencement on the work of improving the city park, for which ten acres was purchased some time ago, lying between San Bernardino road and Badillo streets and facing on Third street.

Work with a gang of men will begin today, under the direction of a committee composed of Trustees Overholzer, Delano and Budd, and with A. Lund as foreman of construction. It is understood that excavation will be made for the swimming plunge, and that a system of beautification will be laid out. Local men out of employment will be utilized on the construction.

University Girl Is Very Critically Ill

At a late hour yesterday afternoon little hope for the recovery of Miss Betty Templeton was given by physicians who have been fighting to save the life of the girl since she was stricken while attending the University of California and brought to her home here.

The girl has lain in a very low condition at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Templeton of Ben Lomond avenue, since being brought home. It is stated that she is suffering from a complication of diseases which have baffled the efforts of the physicians.

Western Film Tonight
At Covina Theater

"Strongheart," the wonder dog of the films, is featured in the picture, "The Silent Call," which comes to-night and tomorrow night to the Covina theater.

"Strongheart" is of the police dog breed, mentioned in the Belgian war records for bravery and service during the war. The story woven around him is laid in a western mining town.

On Monday and Tuesday nights the theater will show Will Rogers in "Doubling For Romeo." Rogers plays the part of the laziest cowboy in the world. He is in love with the ranchman's daughter, but she tells him: "Go away and learn how to make love, or I'll marry the town soda squire." So he goes forth to become a Romeo. It is said to be a better picture than his famous "Jubilo," or "An Unwilling Hero."

Mrs. Clarence Fabrick
In Sudden Death

Coming unexpectedly and with a shock of sadness to the entire community, the death of Mrs. Clarence D. Fabrick occurred on Monday afternoon of this week, death ensuing shortly after she had been removed from an automobile in which she was riding on her way to Montebello.

Mrs. Fabrick was Genevieve Vincent before her marriage to Clarence Fabrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Fabrick, and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Vincent, of Lark Ellen street, one of the oldest families in the valley. She had been raised in the valley, and was known to a host of people, especially of the younger generation.

While apparently in the best of health, she was taken suddenly ill, complaining of feeling faint. She was removed from the machine to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Fowler, parents of Mrs. Laverne R. Vincent, her brother's wife, and a physician was called. She lived but a few minutes after being taken into the house. The cause of death was pronounced as apoplexy. She was 28 years old.

Besides her parents and her husband, Mrs. Fabrick leaves a brother, Laverne Vincent, and three sisters, Mrs. Blossom Libby of Spokane, Washington, who is now on her way here, Mrs. Bessie Baldwin of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Kathleen Wicks of Monrovia. A brother, Raymond, and a sister, Mrs. Captola Smoot, are dead, making the third bereavement in this family in the past four years.

The funeral will be held tomorrow (Saturday) morning at ten o'clock at Holy Trinity Episcopal church, Rev. L. M. Idleman officiating, and interment will be made in Oakdale cemetery.

Anna Nelson Remains In Critical Condition

Miss Anna Nelson, telephone operator who was knocked down and critically injured by an automobile while going from her work a week ago last Sunday night, as reported in last week's Argus, still lies in a very precarious condition at the Pomona hospital. It was reported yesterday that she had been conscious at intervals, but was suffering from a concussion of the skull.

E. Edwards, who lives in a house on the Seelye ranch, was arraigned on a misdemeanor charge in Justice of the Peace Reed's court this week, the charge relating to the alleged fact that it was the machine he was driving that struck the girl. He was released on his own recognizance to appear for examination on Tuesday of next week.

MERCER COUNTY FOLKS
HOLD REUNION HERE

The Mercer County (Illinois) picnic association held its thirteenth annual reunion at the Woman's clubhouse in Covina Saturday, and was attended by over one hundred former residents and their friends from Illinois. Among the number were ex-Congressman James McKinney of Aledo, Ill., a close friend of ex-President Taft, Hon. Tom A. Marshall, ex-member of the Illinois legislature, and Rev. J. B. Pallock, pastor of the U. P. church of Aledo, who delivered addresses.

The Achievements of 1921

The partial crop loss of this year, due to frost, is certain to have a temporarily depressing influence upon many within and without the citrus industry. The last annual report compiled by G. Harold Powell, general manager of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, has in it a summary that is well worth reading at this time, to show what this industry has accomplished in a normal year. Mr. Powell's death last Saturday at Pasadena, recalls the fact that his last report is one of the most remarkable in the history of raising oranges and lemons in California. The summary shows the following:

In the face of conditions that proved disastrous to the sale of practically all staple agricultural crops, the California Fruit Growers' Exchange marketed during the season 1920-1921 the largest crop of citrus fruits ever produced in California. Success of past year's operation not the result of chance, but is another tribute to the soundness of co-operative marketing system. Fiscal year changed to close October 31 instead of August 31.

During the year ended October 31, 1921, 48,350 carloads of oranges and grapefruit and 11,797 carloads of lemons, making an aggregate of 60,147 carloads of citrus fruits which were shipped from California.

Members of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange shipped for the same period 33,677 carloads of oranges and grapefruit, and 9,915 carloads of lemons, totaling 43,592 carloads, or 72.5 per cent of the citrus shipments from this state. In boxes this totaled 15,185,999 boxes of oranges, 204,106 boxes of grapefruit, and 4,175,239 boxes of lemons.

Returns for Exchange shipments f. o. b. cars California were $61,080,003.77. Based on these returns, California received $83,537,344.22 for the season's citrus crop, the delivered value being $128,431,059.30, including $44,893,715.08 of freight and refrigeration. From investigations of jobbing and retail margins it is estimated that retail dealers paid $145,955,000.00 for the crop and consumers $203,642,100.00.

In a year characterized by many business failures and general financial stringency the Exchange lost only $3,570.29, or 3-500 of 1 per cent of the f. o. b. value of the fruit. During the past 18 years the returns to California through the Exchange have been approximately $443,000,000 and the total losses from all causes during this period have been $12,345, or 3-1000 of 1 per cent of the f. o. b. returns.

Exclusive of advertising, the sales service of the Exchange cost an average of 5.95 cents per box for the 14-month period from September 1, 1920, to October 31, 1921, and the average cost of the District Exchange was 1.08 cents per box, making the total average operating cost of the Exchange marketing service 7.03 cents per box, or 2.25 per cent of the f. o. b. returns for the 14-month period ended October 31. The cost of exchange service was higher than in recent years due to the generally increased cost of doing business. Still, due to the volume of fruit handled and the efficiency and economy of operation, the cost per box is less than it was ten years ago. There were also invested in advertising and sales promotion work 3½ cents per box of oranges and grapefruit and 6 cents per box of lemons, making a total sales and advertising expense of 2.32 per cent of the delivered value of the fruit, which, so far as we know, the lowest cost for marketing a perishable food product.

Emergency tariff on lemons put into effect by congress. Foreign trade possibilities investigated with a view to exporting citrus fruits. Through California Citrus League many important transportation problems were considered in an effort to secure relief for citrus shippers. Water transportation possibilities tested by several trial boat shipments and future plans formulated.

The law department has been of material assistance in establishing better forms of organization and sounder financing for the local associations.

The Exchange through the field department has been able to render efficient and valuable service to its members along lines of better fruit handling, standardization, organization and production. Investigations of pest control have been of great value, and the work in connection with labor problems is helping to stabilize employment and increase the efficiency of labor.

The research laboratory is making good progress in the development of additional commercial by-products of oranges and lemons. Continuing the major background of educational publicity, much attention has been given to co-ordinating the advertising with the sales efforts.

The Fruit Growers' Supply Company transacted a business of approximately $12,600,000. Capitalization was increased from $1,000,000 to $6,000,000. Hilt and Lassen plants now in full operation with a combined capacity of approximately 150,000,000 feet of lumber annually.

PROTECT YOUR TREES from SUNBURN Kill Three Birds With One Stone

It is important that we protect our leafless orange and lemon trees from SUNBURN with whitewash, for the limbs that burn may cause more damage than the freeze.

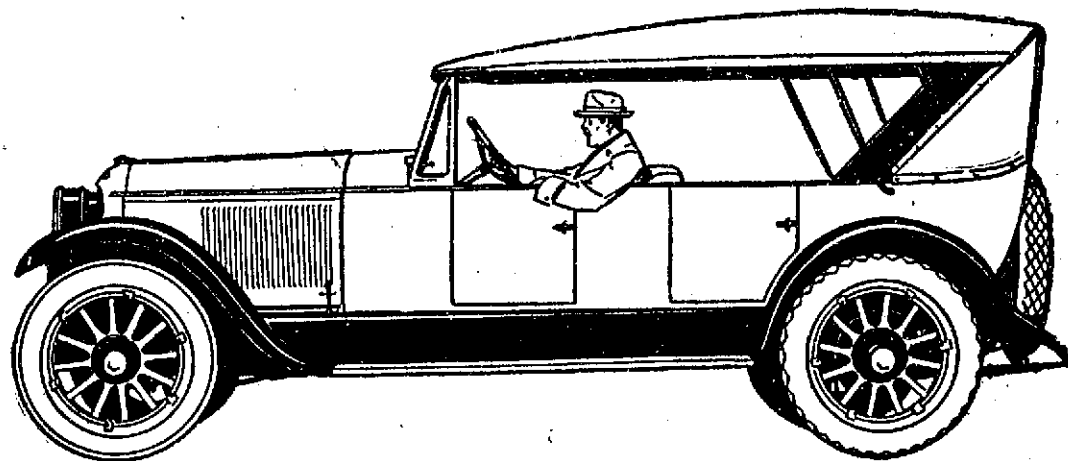

Whitewash will also KEEP ALL TREE MOSS OFF for about five years. This alone is worth more than the expense.

Whitewash also KILLS MORE SCALE, indirectly, than by any other means. The whitewash surrounds the scale and they come loose and die. We can rid the tree of scale and save fumigating in the fall. Freezing does not hurt the scale. I have sprayed my grove twice with pure whitewash with absolutely no harm to fruit, bloom or tender growth. It is perfectly porous. The fruit cleans easily. I have arranged to handle LIME PUTTY, put up in 250-pound steel drums, ready to put into the tank, with no grit to injure the machine. Hydrated lime soon washes off. LIME PUTTY is the only material that is put up, adapted for spraying, and it is the cheapest. $10 to $20 worth will cover 10 acres. You take no chances in spraying with whitewash, but you do if not. Spray the inside of the tree where leaves are green, with small coat. It scarcely shows on the outside. Spray your DECIDUOUS TREES for perfect fruit. The material is kept on hand at my residence. Get busy. The sooner, the better. Call me at 153, Charter Oak.

MENTALLY PREPARED FOR EVERY TASK, TRAIT OF G. HAROLD POWELL

By J. L. MATTHEWS

Through the death of G. Harold Powell the citrus industry suffered a far greater loss than from all the frosts and other climatic setbacks in its history.

The citrus industry has been, and is, directed by men of exceptional ability. It will continue to find men who will ably direct it. But Mr. Powell was the super-genius of the industry. He was not the kind of manager who merely sat in judgment upon and selected from the ideas of others, although of course this was part of his work. He was the man who "thought out," and initiated great reforms and improvements from the very hour of his initial connection with the business. His was a wonderful example of the finely-balanced, fearless brain, tirelessly alert, and to all observers he seemed to house his intellect in a well-functioning body. He seemed to be well in body as in mind, always cheerful. But nature must have secretly rebelled at the amount of nervous energy he continually called for. Seemingly in the best of health and in the prime of life, all that splendid mental equipment and directive power ceased as suddenly as the machinery stops in turning in one of the great packing-houses of this citrus industry when a master switch disconnects the electric energy. In some of these long battles for the citrus industry, here and in Washington, he overtaxed the "power-house" within him, and a splendid career was ended even as he planned new departures and new ventures in the interest of the industry that had engrossed his whole being for so many years. No one man's loss is irreparable. But the loss of G. Harold Powell is a body blow to the progress of the citrus industry, to California, and in a large measure, to the nation.

G. HAROLD POWELL

Manager California Fruit Growers' Exchange, whose sudden death occurred Saturday, February 18, at Pasadena.

ingly in the best of health and in the prime of life, all that splendid mental equipment and directive power ceased as suddenly as the machinery stops in turning in one of the great packing-houses of this citrus industry when a master switch disconnects the electric energy. In some of these long battles for the citrus industry, here and in Washington, he overtaxed the "power-house" within him, and a splendid career was ended even as he planned new departures and new ventures in the interest of the industry that had engrossed his whole being for so many years. No one man's loss is irreparable. But the loss of G. Harold Powell is a body blow to the progress of the citrus industry, to California, and in a large measure, to the nation.

HE CAME PREPARED

His mental preparedness for his job was something that impressed us from the day he came here, unknown on the Pacific coast, and began the study of the mechanical injury to fruit in handling. Before he came here we were in the habit of looking upon oranges and lemons as being more resistant to rough handling than apples or other fruit. I have heard it said, times without number, in the early years, that an orange had "a tough hide," and shipped better than apples for this reason. It was pointed out in the old days that an orange had a skin texture that could be indented without injury, while every little indentation on an apple caused a physical bruise. This was the fallacy that he faced and overturned in his earliest experiences here. The first written report of his findings on mechanical injury was printed in the Argus ahead of all other newspapers. He gave his first address on this subject before the Covina Citrus Association, and his manuscript was handed to the Argus editor after the meeting. His findings revolutionized the method of handling citrus fruits. In the years since then it has saved hundreds of thousands of dollars to the growers.

Mr. Powell's last important address dealing wholly with the citrus industry attack on the cooperative plan which has been launched at various times by the enemies of the California system. Forming trusts to control the labor and the products of others is one thing, and forming cooperative organizations for the purpose of marketing one's own product is an entirely different thing. Mr. Powell epitomized the cooperative system. More than any other man in America he had aided in building it to the point it now occupies. Under his guidance and through his initiative was perfected the California Fruit Growers' Exchange which had been organized and was functioning on sound lines when he joined its ranks. With his counsel and aid other organizations were formed in this state in the interest of the farmer and the fruit-raiser. Step by step he was consulted when the walnut growers organized, and this was a fact in connection with all the cooperative organizations in this state. The orange and lemon growers were glad and proud to lend him to other agricultural organizations. They heard of him in Canada, and he was just recently consulted by the Canadian government. Deputations came from South Africa and from many states in Europe to consult with him. When Hoover was made the director of foodstuffs during the war he sent for Powell and placed him in charge of the distribution of perishable products in this country.

INDUSTRY'S CHAMPION

Mr. Powell was known and deeply respected by the members of both houses of congress, where he had appeared repeatedly before the ways and means committee and other bodies in the interest of tariff on citrus fruits, and before the interstate commerce commission on the subject of freight rates. He was a master diplomat. And he never went into any fight without the array of facts that he knew would be called for. He was always prepared. Therein lay his success, coupled with his fine ability to present his brief, and his pleasing personality. His alert mind and versatility made it possible for him to confer for weeks with Washington officials and with international representatives, and return to California and greet by name the hundreds of growers who sought him out. It is well known among his close friends that he could have had a position in Harding's cabinet, probably that of secretary of agriculture. And, inevitably, he was mentioned often for some political post within or from this state. He had been mentioned as a candidate for the United States senate. But he told his friends he was averse to entering politics. He felt that he could do more for his state in the work that he had chosen. There is very little reason to believe that he would have accepted any nomination had he lived.

The young men and women growing up in the Covina valley and in the incomparable valleys of this state will settle the destinies of the citrus industry during the coming decades. They are to be the ones who will direct its course. It therefore behooves them to make a careful study, not only of the industry, but of this man who shaped it and built it to the dimensions it now has attained. The secret of Mr. Powell's success lay in the fact that he took a native ability and prepared that ability carefully in the schools and universities of America. He was a university man—not simply one with a diploma. He applied his learning at every step. He studied constantly until the day of his death, always intrigued and vastly interested by a new problem. He came into the citrus industry prepared for his job, and as that job widened and diversified it found him again prepared. He never attacked any task in haphazard fashion. His was a trained mind.

There is a tremendous lesson here for the youth of this state and nation. Mental preparedness for the job to be done. It confronts and confounds the scatter-gun school. No more remarkable address has ever been delivered anywhere in America than the one delivered by Mr. Powell in Covina recently—not an address of fire and fury, but one so filled with logic and so buttressed with facts that it thrilled with its convincing completeness. The brain of the man was seen behind it. But it was not prepared in a day. The speaker prepared for it from his youth, step by step. Daniel Webster once delivered a speech which afterwards became known as his greatest, and was asked by an admirer just how long he had been engaged in preparing it. And the great speaker answered that the speech was entirely extemporaneous, but that he had been forty years getting ready to deliver it.

The people of the Covina valley extend their heartfelt regret because of the sudden summons of this splendid leader and thinker, their faithful servant, companion and friend. Our sympathy goes out to the loved ones of his family. And we want them to know that we honored him, admired him, and will be increasingly grateful to him for the monumental work he achieved for the citrus industry, for the state, and for the nation.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Potter and family of Wst Badillo street attended the funeral services for Mrs. Potter's sister, Mrs. James Nevell of Los Angeles, on Saturday morning.

Warner-Whitsel Co. to Hold Pure Food Show

The people of Covina who attend the Covina pure food show to be given at the store of Warner( Whitsel & Co., March 2, 3, 4, 1932, will have no cause to worry at the treatment received from the talent employed.

The following ladies will serve: MRS. MARSH: Serving Craig's brand of Salad Dressing and Coffee, has had several years' experience, both as traveling saleslady and demonstrator. It was Mrs. Marsh who started the Fig-Nut factory, which is now making a nationally sold article.

MRS. SCHWARTZ: Who will demonstrate the Glass Jar brand of Fruits and Vegetables, was the house demonstrator for the Model Grocery Company of Pasadena for many years and knows quality merchandise.

MRS. ARNOLD: Who will feed you crackers and cakes, has studied her line so well that she could even do the baking of them if necessary. She is well known in Covina, having demonstrated here many times.

MRS. DILLESBAY: Will tell you about the merits of Phospho Meal for breakfast, and Mrs. Smith will tell you how well Hi-Noon Syrup will fit in with Phospho Meal for that same breakfast.

MISS JUE: Will serve you new and original dishes of genuine Chinese Noodles, served both American and Oriental style. Miss Jue is an American born Chinese lady, educated and graduated in American schools, and is the only Chinese demonstrator in the United States. Miss Jue will be glad to meet you and serve you. It

New Maxwell Car Surpasses Expectations

Surpassing all expectations, executives of the Union Motors, Inc., are jubilant over the tremendous ovation that has been accorded the new series Maxwell at the New York, Chicago, Oakland and San Francisco automobile shows.

"The new Maxwell has created a sensation wherever it has been shown, to say nothing of the 'big hit' it made at the recent automobile show in San Francisco," said George Pearson, manager of sales for Union Motors, Inc., distributors of the good Maxwell.

Pearson continued, "Mechanically, nothing is wanting which the fastidious motor car buyer desires. Simplicity, accessibility and economy are the three striking features in the four-cylinder L-head type motor. The cylinders and the upper half of the crankcase are cast en bloc, and the cylinder-head is easily removed, affording ready access to the combustion chambers and valves.

"In appointments some very distinctive features are noticeable, including the new drum type head-lamps, nickel trimmed and fitted with non-glare lenses, compact and handsome instrument board, accelerator foot rest and plenty of leg room, motor-driven horn, while all lights are controlled through the ignition switch lever.

"The sedan and coupe of the new series have found favor because of their handsome appearance and mechanical sturdiness. Every detail has been cared for which will add to the comfort of the motorist. The closed cars have the full Turkish broadcloth cushions and the rear window of the coupe and the three rear windows of the sedan are mounted in rubber to prevent rattling. Every woman, moreover, will appreciate the large pockets in the doors of the closed cars.

"The touring car and roadster have found a great many friends during their showing in California. Both are upholstered in genuine leather, while springs of a new and special design, extremely comfortable, are used in the seats. Wide doors make it easy to enter or leave the car, while the seating space is unusually roomy. The windshields are the latest and most approved types. A rubber weatherstrip on the lower edge closes against a weatherstrip in the cowl, making the shield absolutely watertight."

Geo. M. Jennings, with display rooms and service station on North Citrus avenue, is the Maxwell distributor for the entire upper San Gabriel valley. It

Huntington Mutual In New Developing Plans

To the Stockholders of the Huntington Mutual Oil Co.:

Drilling is progressing nicely and good headway is now being made. The rains have delayed some. The directors are considering leasing seven acres of land near San Dimas that has been found by Perry Bashore to be first-class oil land, to be drilled at a future date, after finishing our No. 1 well at Huntington Beach. This is to secure the land before it gets to bringing a big bonus, as you can look for big things and rich oil territory at San Dimas very soon. This will be the next big oil strike and we will be in the running. HUNTINGTON MUTUAL OIL CO. By JESSE BERRY, President. R. E. JOOS, Secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Matthews, who have been confined to their home this week with influenza, are improving, and hope to be around in a few days.

New San Dimas Oil Field

DO YOU KNOW THEM?

Have you seen them riding around for the last six months?

Do you know that they have discovered one of the richest oil fields in Southern California, and right at San Dimas, too?

And do you know what Perry C. Bashore has predicted in the past few months about the Santa Fe oil field? And that he has predicted absolute facts about every well he has passed on?

Now look and listen! He will show you the source of the Montebello, Santa Fe Springs, Signal Hill and the Huntington Beach oil fields and what feeds them.

These are interesting facts and it is more interesting to know that it all passes through or near San Dimas and that you tap it or its source.

Just think of it! Fifteen acres of the very richest of this very rich oil land is now being divided into only sixty units, about half of which are already subscribed, and will be owned by about thirty people. This land has ten good oil sites and each well will be located on the big oil vein.

Phone Covina 131, leave your name and address, and we will give you a free demonstration on the ground and convince you that you have been overlooking one of the big rich oil fields and we will tell you about our little syndicate that will own this fifteen acres. It will produce hundreds of barrels of oil. Help us develop this oil and make prosperity for the valley and big money for yourself.

Angeles and a musical program.

The World Wide Guild of the Baptist church will serve the supper for the members of the Brotherhood at the regular monthly meeting in the church Friday. Mr. Carmel Kring is to be the honor guest on this occasion. Mr. Kring and family are moving shortly to La Verne, where they will make their home. After the supper Rev. Burgess of the Community church in Puente will give an address.

The garden section of the Monday Afternoon Club held a meeting at Lincoln park last Friday. The superintendent of the green houses showed the ladies through the conservatories and the propagating department, explaining to them the fundamentals of starting palms, which were under propagation at that time. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. C. H. Beattie on Rowland avenue.

Mrs. W. P. Magan entertained the members of the Lyric Club at her home

the Rebekah home at Gilroy.

Mrs. Grant Chapman attended a luncheon this week given at the beautiful home of Mrs. J. Garner of West Adams street in honor of her mother, a recent arrival from Denver.

Southern Counties Gas to Spend $30,000 Here

More than $30,000 are to be expended by the Southern Counties Gas Company in the growing Covina-Pomona valley district during the current year, according to the announcement from that company made at the recent annual meeting of the stockholders. This sum will be used by the company to improve various parts of its local transmission and distribution system, extending from Azusa east to Pomona and Ontario.

The Southern Counties Gas Company
capital budget for 1922 will run about $1,500,000. This large sum will be distributed over the various districts of the company, Orange county, Whittier, Covina-Pomona, Monrovia, Long Beach,
Santa Monica Bay, Santa Barbara, and Ventura county.

According to the annual report for 1921, just issued, the gross earnings for the Southern Counties Gas Company
amounted to $4,251,023.80, which figure is $1,345,665.94 in excess of that of 1920. The net earnings for the same period show an increase of $147,810.16 over those of 1920. During the same year 12,066 meters were added to the company's system, bringing the grand total to more than 85,000 meters.

According to the company, nine billion cubic feet of gas were sold during 1921 and engineers for the utility estimate that this figure will be increased to fourteen billion during 1922, judging by the tremendous gas "send-out" in January.

Edison Company Makes Large Appropriations

Six hundred and four thousand, nine hundred and twenty-five dollars have been appropriated by the Southern California Edison Company for local and general expenditures during the year 1922, to meet the ever-increasing demands for electric service in its Monrovia district, which includes the important towns of Monrovia, Arcadia, Azusa, Sierra Madre, Glendora, Covina,
and Baldwin Park, was the statement made by District Manager Schwartz today. This amounts to a capital investment during the year of approximately $18.20 for every man, woman and child living in the towns named, and the intervening rural territories. Some of this expenditure will be for water power development in the mountains, transmission lines and equipment, for the purpose of bringing current here. The remainder—a very large part of which is for local labor—will be paid to the men on the jobs where this work is being done.

District Manager Schwartz detailed the program for construction and improvements in the Monrovia district, explaining that it will provide $45,000
for primary and secondary line extensions for new consumers; $15,000 for improvements to existing lines; ample means for regulator equipment in Glendora, Covina and Sierra Madre substations; and additional transfor-mers to be installed at Monrovia substation. Construction of a new substation serving Baldwin Park was recently completed and connected to the system.

These additions, stated Mr. Schwartz, will provide adequate and reliable service throughout the district, and will insure constancy of voltage.

Saturday was the fiftieth wedding anniversary of Rev. and Mrs. David G.
Shepard of this city and relatives and friends to the number of thirty gathered in Ontario, their former home, to do honor to the occasion. Following a sumptuous repast, a feature of which was a huge anniversary cake bearing fifty yellow tapers, the gift of members of the Covina parish, a program of toasts was given. Mr. Shepard is acting pastor of the local Free Methodist church and is just bringing to a close a successful building campaign for the new church edifice now under construction.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Bryan attended the Minnesota picnic held Saturday in Sycamore Grove.

Argus Liners Do the Work

This is a fact. They do more work, sell more goods and are of more benefit to their users than any other agency, considering their cost.

Every week people voluntarily testify to the really wonderful quick results they get from these liners.

Right along people dispose of all kinds of articles, from building lots and lands, down to small household articles. They are especially effective in selling horses, cows, and poultry.

Have you a farm implement or household article which you no longer need? Try an Argus liner. The cost will be in the neighborhood of 25c and the balance of the money you get from the sale will be like finding money. Phone it in.

Farm Agent Answers Fertilizer Criticism

Editor Covina Argus:

I have read with a great deal of interest a clipping from the Argus, dated February 3, the title of which is "Old Time Rancher on Fertilization."

In preparing the statement which I issued following the recent frost and which dealt rather briefly with recommendations concerning the use of fertilizers I went to considerable trouble to secure the best possible information on the subject. It is not my desire nor purpose to engage in any controversy, for this would be neither advisable nor would it get us anywhere. The statements which I made were based first on the recommendations presented by the experts at the citrus experiment station in bulletin 304, summarizing their observations following the famous 1913 freeze; in the second place they represented the judgment of such prominent growers as Mr. Teague and Mr. Culbertson of the Yimoneira Company, and of others; and in the third place they were based on the physiological considerations involved.

In my presentation of this subject at the special meeting held at Covina, perhaps I laid too much emphasis on the physiological considerations rather on the practical observations and experiences. There seems to have been somewhat of a misinterpretation of my recommendations, however. I did not intend to convey the impression that I was recommending that citrus growers immediately buy up bean straw, alfalfa hay, barnyard manure, and other bulky organic materials for application at the present time. What I did intend to convey, however, was that in the light of practical experiences, observations made by trained experts, and the physiological principles involved, the application of quickly available nitrogenous fertilizers at the time of spring plowing to badly frosted citrus trees was not only inadvisable, but a waste of money. My recommendation was to withhold such fertilizers, but to continue the usual fertilizer program of bulky organic materials. In my opinion, these should have been applied last fall, prior to the planting of the cover crop, or during the winter months.

In this clipping, my recommendation seems to be somewhat distorted in regard to another matter, the statement being made that the grower is told to starve his trees. On the contrary, my statement was to the very reverse, but I pointed out that starvation is not merely a matter of withholding food elements from the roots, but that the absorption of carbon dioxide through the leaves is a matter of great importance in the fertilization of plants, and that reduction of the leaf surface such as has been occasioned by the recent frost is accomplishing starvation. I recommended practices designed to occasion as quick a recovery on the part of the trees as is possible, and I cautioned particularly against pruning at the present time in order that leaves which might possibly recover, might not be removed.

I tried to emphasize the point that as soon as the trees have put out a new crop of leaves and have restored the lack of balance occasioned by the loss of leaf surface, the application of nitrogenous fertilizers should be again resumed.

The object in recommending the withholding of quickly available nitrogenous fertilizers at the present time was to prevent waste of money. In the clipping the statement is made that "regardless of how much available nitrogen there may be in the soil, the orange tree will only take up from the soil what nitrogen it actually needs." The point which I hoped to make was that the carbo-hydrate manufacture greatly reduced on account of loss of leaf surface, the nitrogen requirements of the tree are in a like measure reduced and consequently the application of nitrogen fertilizer at this time is merely a waste of valuable fertilizer.

ROBT. W. HODGSON,
County Agent.

Covina Woodman Team Annexes Another Game

The Covina Woodman baseball team defeated the Redlands team last Sunday by a score of 12 to 5. The local boys played fine ball all the way through, making only four errors in the whole game. They made thirteen safe hits to their opponents' eight. The Redlands team made only four errors and did good playing, but could not hit like the local boys.

The next game will be played on our home grounds, between Covina and Colton. Colton beat Pomona, the leading team in the league, last Sunday, 5-4. This game will be fast because our boys are playing better ball than ever.

Covina loses her star center fielder, Ira Cuffey, to the Los Angeles coast league team. Officials of the league, having heard of Cuffey's playing, have contracted with him to go into training for a league player.

Two Firms Installed In Modern Building

In a building specially constructed for them and owned by the firm, the Covina Storage Battery Company is installed this week at the corner of Orange street and Citrus avenue, occupying the building jointly with the firm of Lindstrand & Ashford, vulcanizers and tire dealers.

The building has been made amply large to accommodate these two concerns whose business has been growing rapidly during the past year. Caneer & Johnson, the members of the firm of the Covina Storage Battery, are distributors of the Willard battery and are known throughout the valley as expert automobile electricians. Lindstrand & Ashford is a firm that has built up the largest vulcanizing and tire distributing business in the valley.

Connected with the new establishment will be a gas station, and a feature will be high-pressure air lines where the heaviest pneumatic tires and shock absorbers may be inflated. Merle Temple will have charge of the outside station.

Rowland Will Meet Reggie Kerr Tonight

A boxing event that the local enthusiasts have all been looking for is to take place at the American Legion arena in Covina tonight (Friday), when Reggie Kerr, amateur Pacific coast lightweight champion, is to face Charlie Rowland, the Puente man who has fought the most of his battles to victory.

This will be the main event of a program that has six four-round bouts. Soldier Sobol of the Balloon school, always a favorite in this valley, will meet Al Andrews of El Monte. Sobol has put up some very game contests in the Covina arena, while Andrews has met and vanquished his opponents on several occasions.

Others on the list are: Thaddeus Warsaw, Covina's black and shifting shadow, who will box Young Rubio of Azusa at 130 pounds, a return match; Dynamite Tommy Nelson of Pomona and Ad Geyer of Los Angeles, at 145 pounds; Jake Poole of Covina and Young Jessik of the Los Angeles Athletic club, 120 pounds; Young Ray of the Balloon school and Young Layman of Los Angeles at 133 pounds.

Welcome Uncle Sam and Columbia at the Grammar school, February 24th and 25th, at 7:30.

Covina Exhibit Wins Honors at Orange Show

Local Chamber Makes Creditable Exhibit and Distributes Literature at San Bernardino Citrus Festival

For the first time in half a dozen years, Covina has an individual place in the national orange show which opened its twelfth annual display at San Bernardino, Feb. 17, to last ten days. Covina has a fair proportion of space in the large display of packed fruit made by the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the San Gabriel valley. Besides this, she is represented by a feature in the form of a picturesque booth, the principal element of which is a full front view of Old Baldy, the whole trimmed with oranges and greenery, the center piece occupied by a monster fruit bowl filled with large navel oranges. This feature was not produced and entered with the idea of overwhelming the world with its spectacular magnitude, but mainly to give Covina's chamber of commerce a vantage point from which to distribute its literature.

The chamber of commerce folder recently issued, has been handed out by the thousands, and very largely going to persons who have enough interest in Covina to be willing to gather some information about it. It is thought that the advertising work permitted us by the orange show will prove to be of value. No other town in the San Gabriel valley has an individual show. The Covina booth is the only display made by any town in this vicinity.

The booth is provided and paid for by the chamber of commerce, and the activities of that organization have been splendidly supported and seconded by the Monday Afternoon club, which has engaged to furnish, throughout the show, two of its members each day to greet the throng and hand out the Covina literature. The members of the club who have thus far represented us are Mmes. Samuel Aschenbrenner, J. D. Bixby, Jr., C. E. Jaige, E. V. Rice, Henry Watson, F. B. Mard, Wm. Strickler, W. W. Nash, W. B. Thorne, Henry Damerel, and H. R. Webber.

Incidentally it may be remarked that the Covina feature was honored with a special class cash prize of $100.
